POLICIES OF TOLMIE'S PARTY MUST BE REPUGNANT TO EVERY BRITISHER, FARRIS DECLARES

Victoria Voters Who Support Tory Candidate Support Abolition of British Preference and Policy of Hesitation and Delay in War Crisis, Former Attorney-General Warns at Rousing Liberal Rally Here; Denounces the Conservative Attempt to Wring Last Pound of Flesh From Motherland

TORIES WOULD CLUB BRITAIN INTO BETTER BARGAIN AND MORE TAXATION

Martin Given Tumultuous Reception as He Asks Support for Party Which Brought Back Prosperity; Says Liberals Have Done Far More for Returned Soldiers Than Tories; Will Out Taxation Still Further Despite Conservative Opposition

Every Victoria elector who votes for Hon. S. F. Tolmie at the Federal election next week will be voting for the abolition of the British Preference, for a body blow at Britain's trade, for a policy of hesitation and delay in aiding the Motherland in the crisis of war, J. D. de B. Farris, K.C., former British Columbia Attorney-General, declared in a brilliant address here last night.

Speaking to a crowded enthusiastic meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, Mr. Farris asked Victorians to support Carew Martin, Liberal candidate, and through him the Liberal policy, the British preference, old-age pensions, the Australian Treaty, lower taxation, a moderate tariff on the necessities of life and the implements of production.

Good fellow as Dr. Tolmie is, this is not enough to overcome the anti-western policies of the party to which he stands pledged, Mr. Farris affirmed. Every voter should realize, he urged, that Dr. Tolmie's party has come out in open hostility to the British preference, has killed old-age pension legislation through its instrument, the Senate, has voted against the taxation reductions of the Robb budget and its cuts in the automobile tariff.

In the face of these things Mr. Farris scorned the suggestion that the British-born voters of Victoria would support the Conservative candidate, he emphasized, stood by a policy under which Canada would demand the last pound of flesh from Britain in the adjustment of tariffs. Under this policy, clearly enunciated by Mr. Meighen last week and supported by Dr. Tolmie, Britain would have to build up a tariff wall against the whole world, to tax the tax-riders people still more, and then give Canada a trade preference. Otherwise, the Conservative Party would wipe out the present British preference by which Britain and Canada both benefited enormously, but Canada far more than the other partner in the agreement.

A vote for Dr. Tolmie thus meant a vote in favor of using the British preference as a club to wring further concessions from the Motherland and to force the taxation of its people upward, Mr. Farris warned.

How could the British people in Victoria support the Meighen war-time election policy, Mr. Farris demanded. Under this policy Canada would delay until it had held an election before entering a war in defence of Britain and the Empire, he explained. It was inconceivable, he said, that Britishers should embrace such a proposal advanced by the very party which was calling Liberals disloyal.

CANDIDATE CHEERED
Last night's meeting repeated in point of attendance and enthusiasm the previous Liberal rally last week. The Chamber of Commerce Auditorium was jammed when H. J. Shandley, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, opened the gathering. Mr. Martin, the Liberal candidate, was greeted with tumultuous applause and cheers as he outlined the issues of the campaign and asked support for the party which had brought prosperity back to Canada.

PROPOSALS IN AUSTRALIA ARE VOTED DOWN
Melbourne, Sept. 8.—The latest referendum returns give a majority of 358,000 against the Australian Government's first proposal in the referendum, in which the Government sought increased powers to regulate industry and commerce, and a majority of 358,000 against the second proposal, that the Government should be given powers to protect the interests of the public in the event of any or probable interruption in any of the essential services during industrial troubles.

Queensland gave a majority of 1,093 in favor of the first question. This was the outstanding feature of the vote on the referendum for it was thought that state would have given a majority against both proposals.

WINNIPEG'S OLDEST PIONEER IS DEAD
Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—Mrs. Harriet Cowan, Winnipeg's oldest pioneer woman died here yesterday aged 94. She died from the effect of injuries sustained in a fall several days ago.

SENATOR RENOMINATED
Manchester, N. H., Sept. 8.—Senator George Moses, Republican for of the World Court, has been renominated by a plurality of approximately 20,000.

After Vancouver, the commission would probably proceed to Windsor, Ontario, and Toronto, he said.

In the Maritime Provinces, adjournment was made until after the Federal general election.

GERMANY ELECTED MEMBER OF LEAGUE

Vote at Geneva To-day Unanimous; Republic Also Given Permanent Council Seat

Assembly Increases Number of Non-permanent Seats in Council to Nine

Geneva, Sept. 8.—Germany was unanimously elected a member of the League of Nations to-day by the Seventh Assembly.

The Assembly also approved the designation of Germany to a permanent seat in the League Council and an increase in the number of non-permanent Council members from six to nine.

Election of Germany to League membership automatically brings into force the treaty of mutual guarantees initiated at Locarno last October by representatives of Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Germany.

The Locarno pact binds the contracting parties to the territorial status quo as regards the frontiers between Germany and Belgium and between Germany and France, as fixed by the Versailles peace treaty. It also stipulates disputes between these countries which it may not be possible to settle by normal methods of diplomacy shall be submitted to judicial decision or to a conciliation commission. Failure of the latter to settle the questions would bring the submission to the Council of the League.

Arbitration conventions were also signed between Germany and Poland and Germany and Czechoslovakia.

OBLIGATIONS DISCUSSED
Germany goes into the League with the understanding that her disarmed condition under the Versailles treaty shall be taken under consideration in interpreting her obligations under article 10 of the League covenant, which obligates League members to common action against an aggressor state. This assurance was given to Germany in writing by the Allied statesmen at Locarno.

SPAIN'S RESIGNATION
Geneva, Sept. 8.—Advices from the Franco-Spanish border saying Spain had resigned from the League of Nations caused a stir here to-day, but no official word had been received by council officials.

A dispatch from the French frontier said King Alfonso had attended a cabinet meeting at which it was decided Spain should withdraw from the League. Spain recently threatened to resign if her demands for the return of the League Council were refused.

MARTIN TO SPEAK AT NORTH WARD SCHOOL MEETING TO-NIGHT
Following his rousing reception at the big Liberal down-town rally last night, Carew Martin, Liberal candidate, will continue his election campaign with a meeting in North Ward School to-night. J. S. Clearhugh will assist him on the platform with Robert Dinsdale presiding. To-night's meeting will be the last of a series of practically all parts of the city in the course of his campaign.

CANADIAN CLUBS ARE MEETING IN OTTAWA
Ottawa, Sept. 8.—Canadian Club members should do their part to develop a distinctive Canadianism, urged C. G. Cowan of Ottawa, president of the Association of Canadian Clubs, in welcoming the delegates to the opening session here to-day of the fourteenth annual meeting of the body.

Mr. Cowan, in his presidential address, said the ties, tradition and sentiment kept Canada a part of the Empire, but that was no reason, he pleaded, why Canadians should not develop an individuality. It was not necessary, said Mr. Cowan, that Canadian institutions should be simple imitations of either British or United States ones. In a number of ways Canadians had already shown capacity to develop their own institutions.

Interchange of speakers and visits of club members would be continued, said Mr. Cowan, as the policy was considered effective in discouraging racial and sectional prejudices.

B.C. RACING BETS TOTAL $3,706,716 IN CURRENT SEASON

Total Shows Increase of More Than $200,000 Over Figure For 1925

Last-minute Enthusiasm Swells Amount; Government Revenue is $180,704

Altogether $3,706,716 was bet on British Columbia race tracks in the racing season which ended Monday.

Of this total amount Victoria, through the Colwood and Willows race meets, contributed $760,294.

This year's total wagers for the entire Province showed an increase over the figure for the last season, after threatening for a time to drop below it. Last year bets totalled $3,479,775, more than $200,000 less than the 1926 figure.

In 1924 before the racing season had been reduced by the Legislature, $5,379,565 was wagered.

HEAVY WAGERS
This year's total figures were swelled towards the tail-end of the season by heavy betting at British Columbia, Vancouver, tip to the opening of this meet daily wagers were showing a marked decline below those of 1925. Towards the close of the British meet, however, they suddenly increased rapidly, reaching $125,595 last Saturday and $170,855 on Monday when large Labor Day crowds followed the horses.

The Monday figure was unequalled all season except on July 24 when Hastings Park enthusiasts wagered $171,269.

GOVERNMENT REVENUE
On the entire season's operations the Government collects gross taxation of $185,235. After operators have been paid their fee for collecting this money the Government will derive a net revenue of $180,704 from racing, a slight increase over the figure for 1925.

PRISON DIET MADE SUBJECT OF PROTEST
Two Nebraskans, Rum Convicts, Say Bread and Water Not Enough

Nebraska, Sept. 8.—Under sentence to serve the first and last twenty days of their sixty-day jail sentences on a bread and water diet, because they violated the prohibition law, Roy Carson, thirty-five, and Thomas Nelson, fifty, farmers, are in the Burt County jail to-day.

Each declares he is a heavy eater and can not stand the bread and water sentence, recently affirmed by the state supreme court, to which they appealed.

A physical examination by Dr. Isiah Lukens resulted in a declaration by him that neither man was to stand the sentence.

The bread and water diet is not only cruel, but murderous, because it damages the vital organs, he asserts.

The two sentenced men arrived in the jail last night.

ELECTION ACTION IN TORONTO COURT
Liberals Move to Stop Paper That is Publishing Libels

London, Ont. Sept. 8.—Old age pensions, the constitution of Canada and Conservative propaganda were subjects dealt with by H. Hon. MacKenzie King at Federal general election meeting here last night.

"We have found it necessary to enter an action against one of the newspapers of Toronto for publishing some statements (in connection with customs affairs) in the form of an advertisement," said Mr. King.

"We intend to press this action to show this method of slandering opponents cannot be continued in this country. Similar action will be taken against all newspapers publishing these libels."

JURY'S REPORT
A committee of the House of Commons had sat for months at a jury investigating customs matters, said Mr. King. The unanimous verdict of that jury was its report.

There was not a line in it which reflected in any particular upon the Government, of which I had the honor to be the head," said the Liberal leader.

The report was complete and unanimous, he said, yet statements in connection with customs matters were being made to-day in Tory adjectives and they could not be prevented.

Mr. King pledged the Liberal Party to the continued support of old age pensions. The enactment of such a plan would be pressed for by the Liberals. Old age pensions were in the nature of social justice to industrial workers whose lives were devoted to a very real social duty.

Boston Federal Reserve Bank Wrongly Reported Increasing Rediscount Rate

New York, Sept. 8.—Stock prices broke sharply towards the close of today's market here after an early period of strength. The selling movement was attributed to fears the Federal Reserve Bank would increase its rediscount rate after the close, but the rate remained unchanged at 4 per cent.

General Motors broke from $222 to $217 and United States Steel common, Allied Chemical, International Paper and other industrial leaders sold down two to four points from their early highs.

Total sales during the day approximated 1,800,000 shares.

NEW MEMBER OF LEAGUE COMMITTEE; SIR HERBERT AMES

Several Lost Lives During Clash With Natives on Yangtze River

Incident Regarded by London as One of Local Brigandage

Shanghai, Sept. 8.—Several British naval officers and seamen were killed or wounded in Monday's clash between Chinese troops and British gunboats on the Yangtze River near Washien. It was learned to-day when details of the encounter were received here. No definite information has been received as to the number of Chinese casualties.

The British killed included Commander F. C. Darley and Lieut. A. R. Higgins of the gunboat Dispatch and Lieut. C. F. Ridge of another gunboat, who died from wounds.

Others killed or who died of wounds were Able Seaman Farmer, gunboat Dispatch, and Stamen Haslan, Marriot and Farrow, all of the gunboat Scarra.

CHAOS IN CHINA
London, Sept. 8.—The British Office considers Monday's incident on the Yangtze River, in which the three British naval officers were mortally wounded by Chinese troops, "as an act of local brigandage," it was stated to-day. It is not expected to develop into a diplomatic incident, officials said, for the reason that China is in a state of complete chaos, owing to civil war.

GUARDS ON WHARVES
A dispatch to The London Daily Express from Hongkong says the British consul there has curtly replied to the note from Canton Government's Foreign Minister, who demanded the withdrawal of the British marines from the jetties near the Shamshien quarter, the foreign section of Canton.

The reply of the consul demands to know why, as no state of war exists between Britain and China, British goods and British subjects are being treated as if the two countries were at war.

WHARVES RETAKEN
Canton, China, Sept. 8.—The situation here for the foreign section was somewhat eased yesterday when British gunboats regained possession without incident of the British wharves.

London, Sept. 8.—Uncensored dispatches from Spanish correspondents of some of the London newspapers, printed to-day, represent the trouble in Spain rather as having been side-tracked than definitely overcome by the authorities.

A dispatch to The Daily Express from Barcelona reports that the army in Spain has been split in two, that there have been mutinies throughout the country and that the navy is exhibiting unrest.

Hundreds of apprehensive Spaniards are said to be leaving the country going to France to invest their capital there.

STATE OF WAR ENDED
Madrid, Sept. 8.—King Alfonso signed a decree to-day ending the state of war which was proclaimed throughout Spain Sunday in consequence of the mutinous movement in the artillery corps.

RESIGNATION SOON
Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 8.—A leading Spanish statesman who declines to permit publication of his name owing to the conditions prevailing in the country, expressed the following opinion to the Associated Press correspondent here yesterday:

"The Government of Primo de Rivera has suffered such a terrific blow through recent events that its resignation must soon be given. The dictatorship was supported solely by the army and has now quarreled with the artillery branch, which is a model of efficiency, discipline and honor."

"This means the fall of the dictator. Possibly in order to save appearances, Primo de Rivera will retain office a few days more, but the end is in sight."

The dictatorship is following the same road as other abnormal governments, acting unjustly and violently, and we must be the same. The armed forces which brought it into power will destroy it."

KING SPEAKS IN NORTH YORK RIDING

Liberal Leader Asks Constituency to Send H. Sifton to Parliament

Points Out Meighen Cabinet Letting Contracts Without Calling Tenders

Newmarket, Ont., Sept. 8.—In his historic North York, which he represented in Parliament from 1917 till 1925, Mr. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, addressed a great audience yesterday.

Speaking here in support of Harry Sifton, Liberal candidate, he said: "I wish that, during the last general election campaign, it would have been possible for me to spend more than two or three days in this constituency. The story might have been different."

If it had been possible for him as a party leader, to spend more than a few days in the North York riding, he would have been very glad to accept the Liberal nomination offered to him this time, Mr. King said.

SUPPORT FOR SIFTON
The people of the riding were urged to support Harry Sifton. Mr. King recalled the taking of Sir Clifford Sifton to the Laurier administration in 1896.

"In Harry Sifton we have a chip of the old block in the truest sense of the word," Mr. King said. "He would venture to prophesy that Harry Sifton, if returned to Parliament, would not have to wait long before he was at the head of a government department."

TAXATION CUTS
"We have brought down the public debt and reduced taxation by the cutting of expenditures. The reductions have not been made at the expense of the treasury," said Mr. King.

Premier Meighen was charged with insincerity in advocacy of protection.

OLD AGE PENSIONS
The Senate, which had rejected the old age pension measure last session, would have to be brought into line with a Liberal Commons before measures of a social nature could be passed by both Houses, said Mr. King.

"The House of Commons declared Mr. Meighen's Government to be illegal," said Mr. King. "In any British country the ministry should advise the crown that it could not carry on. But His Excellency was chivalrous with Mr. Meighen to the end."

Mr. Meighen had advised dissolution. "Parliament was dissolved without even a message from the Governor-General as the result of Mr. Meighen's actions. For two weeks Mr. Meighen was the only minister sworn to office—responsible alone for all the domestic, foreign and inter-empire affairs of Canada," said Mr. King.

MONEY METHODS
Since Parliament had refused to give him a cent, Mr. Meighen has been spending money by Governor-General's warrant at the rate of $1,000,000 a day, said Mr. King. It was being used for public works all over Canada.

"This Government of Mr. Meighen comes along and approves the letting of a contract for $3,500,000 without calling for tenders for a hotel in Vancouver," said the Liberal leader.

Canada Reported Pressed to Ask Seat in League
Paris, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—The Geneva correspondent of Excelsior, a daily paper of Paris, states some of the Dominions of the British Empire are urging Canada to ask for a seat in the League of Nations Council, but he adds that Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, is not in favor of this. Other powers, the correspondent says, are not in favor of the proposal.

PLAN REGISTRATION OF GRAIN TRADERS

Federal Trade Commission Also Propose to Guard Customers From Brokers

Washington, Sept. 8.—Increased attention should be given to the elimination of the purely gambling element in the grain market, in the opinion of the Federal Trade Commission. In a report drafted for Congress and made public today, the commission discussed the "uses and abuses" of the direct and incidental effects of future trading in grain, and suggested that any measures tending to "make the exchanges more exacting as regards the character of the customers and of these customers' methods of trading, would tend to improve the situation."

The report set forth a number of general remedial policies rather than definite measures designed to carry out such suggestions into effect. "Registration of persons desiring to trade in futures," it said, "might be required in the development of consciousness of the responsibility involved and the desirability of competent ought to be excluded from the market."

"Credit should not be granted to the broker to facilitate speculative trading in futures and margin sufficient to make it unnecessary for a trader to unload in haste, should be required by rule. Substitutes for adequate margining should not be allowed in general, the speculator should not be permitted to increase his risks out of proportion to his funds available for speculation, as such practices tend to increase the fluctuations of the market."

The speculator should be so dealt with that he will encounter only the price risk he intends to assume. It is highly desirable, without tying up cash unproductively, to prevent the broker's employment of margins entrusted to him, either in speculative ventures of his own or in granting credit to other speculators. Customers deposits might well be safeguarded by public audit and by other necessary regulations.

BISHOP OF LONDON Addressed Synod In Terminal City

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—The Bishop of London, England, addressed the Provincial Synod of the Anglican Church here yesterday, spoke of the Church of England Empire settlement scheme. He said he could only repeat what he had already said, even though it was criticized: "You cannot keep Canada loyal to the British Empire unless you send in more of British stock than foreign born." He urged the church in British Columbia to be ready to do its part in welcoming the people and assisting them to obtain work.

The Bishop congratulated the church in British Columbia on the magnificent site obtained for the theological college at Point Grey. He said he did not know of a finer site anywhere and he would do all he could to assist in the completion and the equipment of an adequate building. The theological training of candidates for the ministry was a most important work, he said.

Speaking of the British Columbia and Yukon Church Association, of which he had been president from its inception, he was glad to say $240,000 had been subscribed since the beginning of the association's work and there was no reason why the fund should not continue to assist in the development of church life and work.

MEIGHEN HEARD BY TORONTO AUDIENCE
Makes Conservative Election Appeal in Massey Hall

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Premier Meighen, continuing his Ontario tour, addressed a Conservative Federal general election campaign meeting in Massey Hall here last night.

Mr. Meighen thought that if the Conservatives were not returned to power in the polling on September 14 it would mean the calling back of Mackenzie King to a position more subordinate than ever to precisely the same set of influences as had dominated him for the last five years.

Mr. King's government, said Mr. Meighen, would depend for every breath of its life in the House of Commons on a group of men elected from three provinces in the West, "not one of whom is professing the principle of adhering to the faith announced from the platform of Massey Hall to industrial Canada in general in respect to the tariff."

"Where," Mr. Meighen said later, "representatives are elected opposed to Conservatives in those three prairie provinces, whether they stand under the name of Liberal or Progressive or of Progressive-Liberal or Liberal-Labor-Progressive, or any one of the multitudinous titles they assume, off the question of the tariff they are all united and they are fighting the contest for a downward revision of the tariff until the goal of free trade is reached."

Premier Howard Ferguson of Ontario and Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Federal Minister of Public Works, also spoke.

GREAT FISH SUPPLIES IN BARREN LANDS

Airman Who Flew Over Territory North of Alberta Tells of Food Resources

Calgary, Sept. 8.—"There are sufficient fish in the barren lands of the Northwest Territory to supply the needs of the world for the next fifteen years," is the report given by Pilot C. S. Caldwell, who has returned to High River, Alberta, after having spent four months in the barren lands with a party of government engineers who were prospecting for minerals.

The party flew to the barren lands, which lie between Great Slave Lake and Bathurst Inlet, in the first amphibian flying boat that ever visited the West. Engineer I. Bachon had charge of the engine of the amphibian, which carries a 450-horsepower engine. D. W. Dunn of Ottawa was the chief of the three engineers who prospect for minerals.

The flying ship, which is situated on the Slave river, 700 miles north of Edmonton. The engineers will make the whole trip in six hours. They will come out by river and rail and it will take them six days to accomplish the journey, which was covered by Pilot Caldwell in six hours.

The flying ship traveled between 6,000 and 7,000 miles during the trip and encountered no trouble during the whole journey. The machine alights and arises with equal ease on land or water.

AMMONIA PIPES BURST IN CREAMERY AND FIRE FOLLOWED

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—Ammonia valued at $300 was lost and considerable damage was done to apparatus when pipes in the freezing plant of the Sherwood Creameries burst last night.

Great difficulty was experienced by firemen, who were called out to extinguish the resulting fire, gas masks being necessary before they could enter the building.

CHARGE OF THEFT

McRUER DECLARES STEVENS INSINCERE

allow the Customs Department to be used as a medium for the bootlegging of liquor into the United States."

"Ladies and gentlemen, when Mr. Stevens made that statement, he was either sincere or he was not. If he was sincere, what did he mean?"

"He must have meant that he was going to take steps to see the customs officers were to be instructed to prevent the clearance of vessels loaded with liquor, which was obviously for the United States, or that the terms of the treaty between Great Britain and the United States affecting the smuggling of liquor on the Canadian border were to be carried out, or that if the regulations now in force were not sufficient, he would pass sufficient regulations, or he would vigorously enforce the law as it now stands."

BOOTLEGGERS ALARMED
"Now, let us test Mr. Stevens' sincerity by his actions."

"This declaration of policy on the part of Mr. Stevens caused no small amount of distress in some quarters in Ontario, for there is a very brisk bootlegging trade carried on between Ontario and the United States."

"Mr. Stevens accordingly was visited by a delegation of distillers on July 12 and their representations were heard by Mr. Stevens and Sir Henry Drayton."

LETTER TO GOTT
"Eccles Gott, Conservative candidate in Essex, where the bootlegger actively piles his trade, was also very much exercised over Mr. Stevens' declaration of future policy, and he sent to Mr. Stevens an inquiry as to whether he meant what he said. In reply Mr. Stevens wrote a letter which Mr. Gott is using throughout the length and breadth of his riding."

"In that letter Mr. Stevens stated: 'As long as the exporters keep within the law they have nothing to fear from me or my department.'"

"Not even a declaration, or an undertaking that he proposed to enforce the law, but the bare statement that as long as 'You keep within the law, don't worry.'"

"Now what did Mr. Stevens mean by that letter to Mr. Gott? It is quite apparent it was an open declaration he had no intention of either strengthening the law or adding to the regulations, which would in any way do anything to interfere with the transportation of bootleg liquor into the United States."

ALL PROPAGANDA
"Mr. Gott now makes the public declaration that Mr. Stevens' declaration in Toronto was: 'All election propaganda.'"

"Mr. Gott says he was not sincere. Does Mr. Gott know what he is talking about or does he not? 'Now Mr. Stevens takes the attitude that he cannot prevent the clearance of vessels loaded with liquor for the United States.'" to an act of Parliament which I have here. This act contains the following provision: "The Governor-in-Council may make such regulations as are deemed necessary to carry out the provisions and intent of this act and of said treaty."

ACTION!

Here's the Reason!

Bargains such as illustrated in this advertisement, and the hundreds of unadvertised bargains throughout the store, cannot last forever. No store in the wide world could afford to sell footwear of a like quality and remain in business.

The fact is, however, that we have too much stock and need the space for incoming shipments, and are willing to sacrifice this fine stock of quality footwear in order to reduce our stocks at least one-half. This great event is for nine days only and the way the footwear is priced means you must ACT QUICKLY. Get here as early as possible Thursday Morning, September 9, and see for yourself THE SAVING POSSIBILITIES OF THIS BIG EVENT.

These broad statements may seem a bit exaggerated to those who are not familiar with this store's ordinary conservative selling policies. But, a few minutes' visit to this store will convince you of the truth of this advertisement. We have the evidence—plenty of it that this is the unquestionably THE SELLING SENSATION OF 1926.

CHARGES POINT GREY AUTHORITIES UNDER C.P.R. DOMINATION

Pattullo Finds Them Partial in Attitude on Government
Public Works There

Minister Denies He Avoided
Interview But Believes
Critics Are Avoiding Him

That the municipal authorities of Point Grey are under the domination of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is the charge voiced by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, in a statement issued to-day, replying to criticism of the new Point Grey cemetery scheme. Mr. Pattullo's statement follows:

"Reeve Paton has an interview in the Press in reply to a statement issued by me in respect to the cemetery in the University Endowment lands."

"In the reported statement, Reeve Paton says, in reference to the Endowment lands: 'The Government wished to develop the lands on the credit of the municipality without agreeing to conform to the standards set by Point Grey. Naturally the people turned down the proposition.'"

STATEMENT FALSE
"This statement is not true and Reeve Paton knows it is not true. We were anxious to meet not only the standards of Point Grey but even higher standards. Where the agreement between the municipality and the Government came was that the municipality wanted the government area, not only to pay the costs of public improvements within the government area, but to assume a share of all the old obligations of Point Grey. In some of the indebtedness of Point Grey the Government was prepared to allow its lands to participate, but in some not, and it is my opinion the reason that the municipality turned down the agreement with the Government was that sufficient influence was brought to bear upon public opinion so to do, by reason of the Government's refusal to allow the University lands to assume a certain portion of the old obligations."

UNDER C.P.R. DOMINATION
"Amongst these influences opposed to the Government's proposals was the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and it is my opinion that the authorities of Point Grey—I do not mean individually but collectively—have been and are under the domination of the C.P.R. It is my opinion that they have shown partiality in allowing a class of work to be carried on within the municipality of Point Grey that is not comparable to the Government work in the University lands area and further, that during the negotiations between the municipality of Point Grey and the Government that the municipal authorities were extremely critical of every move made by the Administration. While I repeat, that they have permitted a class of work inside the present municipal area that they never would have tolerated in the University lands area, I hope that this statement is sufficiently explicit."

REEVE'S CRITICISM
"Reeve Paton is also quoted as saying: 'When it was accidentally discovered that the Government was proceeding with the cemetery deal, an effort was made to get in touch with the Minister of Lands. The Vancouver members were asked to arrange the meeting. They spent a whole day trying to get in touch with the Minister and although the Valhalla representative was able to arrange a conference the Vancouver members were not.'"

"Is this the way for a Minister of the Government to treat the Members of the Legislature, and incidentally the people? The meeting was that of a friendly conference with the Minister, but this was not afforded us."

NOT AVOIDING MEETING
"The public would be led to believe from this statement that I was trying to avoid a meeting with the representatives of the municipality and the Vancouver members. Contrary to this being the case, I am of the opinion that the municipal authorities tried to avoid a meeting with me, and for the following reason. It was reported in the Press that I would be in Vancouver on my way to the Interior on a given day and that it was the intention of those in opposition to the cemetery deal to get in touch with the Minister on his way through the city and although I had innumerable telephone messages, not a single request did I receive to meet anyone on this cemetery issue. After I had left the city the following day to carry out a pre-arranged itinerary in the Interior country a telegram was received from one of the Vancouver members asking me to meet a delegation the following day in Vancouver. The impossibility of my doing so should have been known to the delegation from the dispatches that had appeared in the Press."

MEMBERS PROPERLY TREATED
"As to the manner in which I treat the Members of the Legislature, the Members of the Legislature well know whether or not I show them due respect and consideration, and further than that, I am answerable to the public."

to these honorable Members in the Legislative Assembly, I do not think these honorable members would tolerate discourteous treatment from me, even were I so minded, which I am not and never have been and never will be.

"The fact that the Municipal Council of Vancouver has passed a resolution, so it was reported in the Press, disfavoring the undertaking, does not necessarily indicate that their viewpoint is correct. I can recall that the Vancouver council for a long time opposed the Greater Vancouver water scheme, nevertheless I stuck to my guns and to-day there is a Greater Vancouver water district and the water situation is now assured."

"I have no desire to indulge in recrimination in connection with this matter, the Government took the action it did believing it to be in the public interest and in this, as in all other matters is answerable to the public."

He will motor up from Grand Forks to-morrow, all the way to Kamloops, hurry over to Merritt later in the week, and then speak at Salmon Arm. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, and Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, are not expected to return until several days after the election. Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, who is not taking an active part in the campaign, is inspecting the Sumas reclamation scheme and may come over here late this week.

POLICIES OF TOLMIE'S PARTY MUST BE RE-PURGANT TO EVERY BRITISHER, FARRIS DECLARES

WRONG ON 90TH COUNTS

In the last election, Mr. Farris recalled, Conservatives had declared they could not fail to elect a government; and if the Liberals by any chance were returned, the country would experience very bad times. On both counts they had been wrong, he said. The Conservatives had not been returned and the condition of the country had shown splendid improvement.

One of the chief Conservative arguments in the present campaign, he said, was an attack on group government. To avoid the evils of group government the electors must return a Conservative Government, it was argued.

This idea Mr. Farris considered absurd. The Conservative Party, he said, could not help losing strength in the present election. It could not hold its large support in the Maritimes as the provincial Conservative governments there had proved a failure and were bringing discredit on the whole party. In Quebec the people were more hostile than ever to Conservatism because of Conservative attacks on men like Mr. Leppelt and the late Mr. Boivin. In Ontario three-cornered contests had been eliminated, and with them had gone many of the present Conservative seats. In Manitoba the same measures had been passed by the Progressive Government. In Saskatchewan the Conservatives had no chance of breaking the solid Liberal phalanx, and their chances in Alberta were little better.

"Even if British Columbia voted solidly Conservative, which it is not going to do by any means, Mr. Meighen would not have a majority," he asserted.

Mr. Farris said group government was not essentially wrong so long as it was based on principles about which the combining groups were in accord. The Union of Government of war days in Canada, for instance, had been satisfactory so long as it was united about one great cause—victory for the Allies, he remarked. But it had fallen into disrepute when it became a union designed to maintain itself in office.

COMMON OBJECTIVES

"If the worst we had to fear in Canada was a combination between Liberals and those Progressives, who are really Liberal in thought, our fears would be light," he said, "but cannot imagine any more sinister combination than Conservatives and Progressives, which could be based on no common principle but only a desire for office. As a matter of fact the Liberal Party and the Progressives have in common many things of basic and fundamental importance which justify co-operation. We have nothing to fear from co-operation with Liberal Progressives or with men like Mr. Woodsworth on a common desire for old age pensions, lower taxation, lower tariff, lower freight rates and the development of a western policy, which they all support."

The trouble with the last Parliament, Mr. Farris affirmed, was too much Toryism—Toryism, which showed itself in the treachery of a few Progressives.

"The talk about group government and yet their party name is the National Liberal-Conservative Party. Imagine a combination of that kind—a Conservative, a Liberal, a French Canadian Nationalist—coming forward in unctuous tones and warning the electors of the evils of group government."

"Why to-day the Minister of Justice in the Meighen Government, Mr. Patenaude, ran last Fall as a camouflage independent, and he is an out-and-out Nationalist."

To avoid group government, it was argued, a Conservative victory was needed, he pointed out.

STEVENS ON DEFENSIVE

Turning to the Customs investigation of Canada did not believe in their hearts that the leaders of the Liberal Party had been corrupt. A committee which had investigated the Customs Department at the last session of Parliament had declared that the Customs service had been degenerating for many years.

"It is fair to place the blame for all these things at the door of the King Government," he demanded.

Mr. Farris pointed out that the election in Vancouver was being fought largely on this question.

"To-day Mr. Stevens is not the aggressor—he is on the defensive," he affirmed. "More and more the people are realizing that the Liberal Government was busy clearing up the Customs mess, while Mr. Stevens was busy mulling it up."

The most serious charge against the Liberal Party, used by the Conservative Party in the present campaign, was that relating to the cruise of the "Margate." Mr. Farris remarked. These had been proved utterly false and baseless, and had been dropped. If this was the foremost charge of the Conservative accusers the Canadian people would judge of the merits of their other accusations.

It was alleged that the King Government had done nothing to cure smuggling, he observed. The contrary was true, Mr. Farris said, and to support this statement quoted from official files. These showed that Mr. Sparks, president of the Merchants' Protective Association, had written to Mr. King, thanking him for the work of his Government in curbing smuggling. In the same way the Toronto Board of Trade and the Garment-makers' Association had expressed great appreciation of the Government's efforts. The Liberal Government, he said, had passed legislation making smuggling a criminal offence and was in the middle of cleaning up the Customs mess when the present Conservative Government had been elected.

Conservative tactics here had lately turned upon the memory of the late

Hon. George Boivin, Minister of Customs, Mr. Farris remarked. Both Dr. Tolmie and Mr. Stevens had dragged up the names of the late Mr. Boivin's memory. At the same time Mr. Meighen was making a speech in Quebec paying the highest kind of tribute to Mr. Boivin's memory. If Mr. Boivin were guilty of wrong doing his memory must suffer, said Mr. Farris, but if he were innocent then Tory politicians were using contemptible campaign tactics.

CLEARANCES FOR RUM RUNNERS

"What has Mr. Stevens done since he came into office to stop rum smuggling?" Mr. Farris demanded. To answer this question he read an open letter written by Mr. Raney, former Attorney-General of Ontario, regarding smuggling operations. In this Mr. Raney asserts that since Mr. Stevens took office smuggling of liquor to the United States has been as active as ever, that clearances have been granted to rum runners with the same freedom as before, and this despite Mr. Stevens' statement as late as July 8 last that rum running from Canada was at the bottom of the whole smuggling problem, and that this problem could not be cured until liquor running was curbed.

"I want to suggest to you that we may well leave the customs question to the commission which is now investigating it; and that the decency of the men elected will see that justice is done," Mr. Farris urged. Turning to the constitutional issue, Mr. Farris denied that Liberals had ever attacked Baron Byng. It was the Conservative Party that the Liberals were attacking, he asserted.

INCONSISTENT

Mr. Meighen sneered at Liberal discussion of constitutional matters, he went on. Actually Mr. Meighen's position on these questions were entirely inconsistent. In January of this year he had attacked the King Government for the fact that the Prime Minister was not sitting in the House of Commons; and then at the end of the session he had tried to foist an illegal "shadow" Government upon the people—a Government which had been promptly thrown out by Parliament.

The practical side of the constitutional issue was stressed by the speaker. As a result Mr. Meighen's unparalleled high-handedness, he said, all the valuable legislation of the last session had been lost. Mr. Meighen had advised the Governor-General to dissolve Parliament without assenting to these bills and they had become scraps of paper.

"Had those bills been approved, the last session would have been one of the most effective in our history in producing useful legislation," he declared.

Turning to old-age pensions, Mr. Farris affirmed: "The Tories to-day are going about the country saying they supported the old-age pension bill and that the bill was a good one. If it wasn't satisfactory, why didn't they propose an amendment to it? They proposed none. Why, Mr. Bennett, did you think Mr. Meighen could; he didn't record his vote, but he spoke against it and he is the man who is in charge of the purse strings."

KILLED BY TORY SENATE

"The bill was killed by the Tory Senate, by a group of men who are the outstanding old-age pensioners in the world at the rate of $4,000 a year. Now all Mr. Meighen can say is that he didn't talk to the Senate to influence it. Why in heaven's name, if he favored old-age pensions, didn't he go to it? The Tory leader in the Senate led the attack on the bill in the Senate. If it had been a bill to pension the manufacturers of Ontario, don't you think Mr. Meighen would have spoken to his friends in the Senate?"

In the Commons, he charged, Mr. Stevens had deliberately encouraged the Senate to reject the bill.

"Do you hear any Conservative leader attacking the Senate for its rejection of the bill?" he demanded.

"You do not. I say to you, those who are not with us are against us."

A Conservative victory in B.C., the chief advocate of old-age pensions, Mr. Farris declared, would be interpreted by the Senate as a vindication of its hostility to this reform. If a Conservative Government were elected, he said, it would fill up all Senate vacancies by old men of the same type who had killed the pension bill.

"When, then, can we expect old-age pensions?" he asked.

Discussing the Robb budget briefly, Mr. Farris asked his audience whether they actually believed Mr. Meighen's statements that these proposals were a sham and a farce.

TOLMIE FOUGHT TAX REDUCTIONS

"Does Dr. Tolmie tell you why he voted against tax reductions?" he demanded. He voted against the budget containing them. He voted against the reduction in automobile duties. If your member had his way every Ford car purchased now would enrich Henry Ford to the extent of $100 more than it does under the new tariff.

"They say Tolmie is a hard man to beat. Well, then, if that is so, the people of Victoria are not striving to public affairs the consideration they deserve. Dr. Tolmie may be a good fellow but so is Carew Martin. Both are good fellows but above that is this consideration—one man stands for taxation of the common people and for the benefit of the wealthy; and the other stands for the kind of budget the King Government gave the people of Canada at the last session."

Mr. Farris vigorously defended the Australian treaty. The Conservative Party, he pointed out, said it proposed not to scrap the treaty but to amend it for Canada's greater advantage. As a matter of fact, however, since the treaty had been in operation, Canada had bought $2,000,000 from Australia and sold her $14,000,000 worth of goods. This showed which party to the treaty was deriving most benefit from it, he urged.

"Surely it's humbug to suggest that we can have a treaty with intelligent people and get all the benefit and they get all the burden," he urged.

Dr. Tolmie and the other Conservative members of the House of Commons, he said, had voted for a motion a few months ago condemning the Australian treaty, under which British Columbia had benefited enormously through expansion of its pulp and paper industry.

Mr. Farris vigorously assailed the Conservative campaign of slander against Liberals as traitors to the British Empire.

Anyone who thought that trade treaties in the Empire like the Australian treaty would disrupt Empire relations and put this country into the hands of the United States had a poor conception of the Empire's solidarity, he added.

DEFENDS PREFERENCE

The most enthusiastic applause of the evening greeted Mr. Farris's ringing defence of the British preference, under attack by Mr. Meighen and his associates. To prove that the Conservative Leader had attacked the preference not only last year but last week in his Quebec speeches, Mr. Farris quoted verbatim reports of his utterances. These showed, he said, that while in the West Mr. Meighen had "soft peddled" this subject, but in the East had come out in the open with denunciation of the present agreement under which Britain is allowed a tariff preference in this country.

"It's too bad for Mr. Meighen the telegraph wires are working to carry his words out here," he remarked.

THE ENGLISH VOYE

"I have heard it said Dr. Tolmie will be elected because of the English vote in this city. I am surprised to hear that, for a vote for Dr. Tolmie is a vote in favor of scrapping the British preference, a blow aimed at Britain's trade. There is no doubt about this. Mr. Meighen has plainly said in the last few days that he would allow no preference to any nation which does not allow us a similar preference in return. Britain does not allow us such a preference, of course, being a free-trade nation. To do so, he would have to erect a tariff wall against all the world and then cut it down for Canada alone. That is what the Conservatives demand as the price of a British Preference here—that the tax-ridden people of Britain shall be further taxed so that we may have an added advantage in the British market. That is what Dr. Tolmie's Party stands for."

"Let us look at the facts. Does the British Preference operate against Canada? Does England pour her goods into this country while we are barred from the British market? No, the contrary is the fact. Last year we bought $160,000,000 worth of goods from Britain—and she bought $500,000,000 worth of goods from us. And yet Mr. Meighen and Dr. Tolmie demand that we be given a still better bargain, that we demand still more from the Mother Land or we will scrap her preference here!"

TO BE A CLUB?

"Is the British preference, brought in by Laurier as a loyal tribute to our Mother Country to be used as a club to force the British Government to tax its people still more for our benefit?"

Those who voted for Dr. Tolmie, Mr. Farris warned, would be supporting not only the abolition of the British Preference, but also Mr. Meighen's wartime election policy as enunciated in his famous Hamilton speech and repeated later in Montreal. In these utterances, he explained, Mr. Meighen had pledged himself to a plan whereby an election would be held in this country before it entered a war.

"Mark you," he added, "he didn't mean some minor colonial war. He specifically spoke of the spectre of 1914. If this spectre appeared again, he said, before any troops could leave this country there must be an election to decide the issue."

"England might very well reply: 'When your election is over we will send our troops to help to protect Canada.' And I suppose the enemy would say, 'Certainly, Mr. Meighen, we won't do anything to hurt you until your election is over.'"

"That is the policy of the Conservative Party. That is the policy to which Dr. Tolmie is pledged. And then they tell me Dr. Tolmie will be given strong support by the loyal British vote of this city!"

"I do not believe it. I believe there is something in Canadian hearts that is a little bigger and a little better than that!"

As the meeting closed the large crowd gave three ringing cheers for Mr. Martin.

LIKES A HARD FIGHT

"On September 14 you have to choose between a Government which has put this country on its feet or a Government which would raise the tariff, raise taxation and spread blue ruin all through the country," Mr. Martin commenced. "This is a serious matter. I urge you to give it serious consideration."

Mr. Martin pleaded guilty to the charge of being a young man but added that twelve years ago he had not been considered too young to defend at the front many men who were now criticizing him.

"They tell me I am up against a hard proposition," he remarked. "Well, I ask you to remember the story of David and Goliath. No one likes a hard fight better than I and no one likes a fairer one."

Briefly sketching the achievements of the Mackenzie King Government, Mr. Martin referred to Canada's amazing trade growth and the replacement of an unfavorable trade balance of $30,000,000 under the Meighen Government to a favorable balance this year of $400,000,000. The cost of administering all Government departments had been reduced, he said, with one exception—the Liberal Government was paying out $1,000,000 more a year on pensions than it had paid on assuming office.

The candidate Victoria is not striving to look at the election from a business standpoint. In such an attitude they must be impressed, he thought, with the enormous income tax reductions, the abolition of the tax on cheques under $5 and the return to penny postage.

THE ROBB BUDGET

Mr. Meighen, ridiculing the Robb budget, says the return of penny postage will only save the average man 27 cents a year," he went on. "Well, if the Liberal Party could only show a saving of one cent a year for the average man he would be doing more than Mr. Meighen did in his years of office! In all those years he did nothing to relieve the taxation burden."

"Remember," he warned, "that the Conservative Party opposed all these things in the Robb budget. If you don't want them vote for the party which opposed them!"

Mr. Martin declared the King Government had done a great deal for returned soldiers. He regarded the original Pension Act as capable of being amended to investigate pension problems and had then appointed the Pensions Appeal Board. Unfortunately this board's work had been restricted by the Tory Senate that many returned men could not even be heard.

The Liberal Government, he explained, had appointed the Ralston Commission to investigate pension problems and had then appointed the Pensions Appeal Board. Unfortunately this board's work had been restricted by the Tory Senate that many returned men could not even be heard.

Will Field Fine Team For "Big Three" Rugby

Victoria Going Into Canadian Rugby in Earnest This Year and Will Visit Vancouver October 2, While Varsity Will Be Here the Following Saturday: Locals Will Hold First Work-out Next Monday; National Game Is Expected to Flourish

Canadian rugby, which was given a try-out here last season, is to become a major league sport in Victoria this winter. A Victoria team has been entered in what is to be known as the Big Three Inter-city Rugby League. Vancouver and the University of British Columbia are the other clubs in the "Big Three."

After several years of varying success Canadian rugby seems to be pretty well rooted in this Province, especially in Vancouver. In addition to having the two entries in the "Big Three" Vancouver will operate a four-team senior league.

As yet Victoria is not in a position to muster enough players to form a local league, but those behind the rep team intend to use this season more as an educational one and then next season to step out and expand.

WELL SCHOOLED TEAM
Most of the boys in the local team have had experience on eastern university or club squads and are well schooled in the game. They take the view that this part of the country should be represented in the national game of rugby football and then intend to do their best to put it over.

This year the winners of the "Big Three" will be the winners of the Vancouver City League to see which will represent British Columbia in the play-off for the Dominion rugby championship. According to the draw the British Columbia champions will play Manitoba in the first round, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec are all members of the Canadian Rugby Union and, with British Columbia joining, this makes the body national in every respect.

Varsity to Visit First
The first game in the "Big Three" will be staged on October 2, when the Victoria team will travel to the Mainland to play Vancouver. The first game here will be on the following Saturday when Varsity will oppose Victoria.

The local club intends to take immediate steps to have a team in first-class shape for the opening encounter.

A practice will be held at Central Park on Monday, September 13, at 5:30 o'clock. All players who turn out last year and any others who are anxious to play are invited to attend.

DID WELL LAST YEAR
The Victoria team made a cracking good showing last year. Although handicapped through lack of practice the locals were just nosed out in the two games played. In both instances Victoria held a lead until near the close of the game and in Vancouver lost out by one point.

The schedule for the Big Three is as follows:
October 2—Victoria at Vancouver.
October 9—Varsity at Victoria.
October 16—Vancouver at Varsity.
October 23—Vancouver at Victoria.
October 30—Varsity at Varsity.
November 6—Varsity at Vancouver.

SOFT-BALL
The Andrews and the Y.M.C.A. will be the finalists for the city soft-ball title as a result of the former's victory over the Sons of England at the Royal Athletic Park last night by an 11-1 score.

A batting rampage in the sixth inning produced eight runs, gave the Andrews their victory. Up to that time the game had been nip and tuck all the way, with the Andrews enjoying a one-run advantage.

The final series for the city title will commence on Thursday evening at the Royal Athletic Park at 8 o'clock. The best two out of three games will decide the titleholders. The second game will be played Friday and, if necessary, a third game Monday.

HELPFUL HINTS BY GOLFING STARS
By Special Arrangement With Golfers' Magazine, Chicago

WITH IRONS
The ball must be hit firmly and crisply with the mallet, with all the irons in fact, but that will not be easily if we stand too far away. A close stance gets more over the ball, and from that position we are better able to control the club-head. It is power as much as accuracy that is essential in the approach on that very point. When, however, the stance is far from the ball, the swing is seldom true, and, worst of all, the balance of the body is apt to be upset.

There is little body movement in this shot, but that will creep in if the stance is far from the ball. Watching the players in a tournament a short time ago, I saw many who had this fault, and as there was a good deal of wind blowing, many approaches never found the greens at all. That is, of course, fatal in a stroke competition; in fact, in any match.

Standing too far away, the club does not come up straight enough in a mallet approach. It begins to be swung round the right leg.

Record Number Of Fans Will See Bout But Receipts Lower

Rickard Seeks to Put 50,000 Temporary Seats in Stadium at Philadelphia

Dempsey Looks at Gates of His Camp and Answers Letters

Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—Plans for 50,000 temporary seats in the Sesqui-Centennial stadium where the Dempsey-Tunney fight will be held September 23, were submitted to city authorities yesterday for approval.

Tex Rickard, promoter of the bout, conferred with Director of Public Safety, George W. Elliot and Morris Brooks, chief of the bureau of building inspection, official permission to install the temporary seats was promised as soon as the plans were approved.

The plans call for 15,000 seats near the ring, all to be on the ground level. The remainder are to be built on an incline up to the level of the boxes in the stadium.

With the 50,000 temporary seats, there will be a total of 135,000 seats. Rickard said he did not think the gate receipts would be as much as the total for the Dempsey-Carpenter fight at Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, when $1,600,000 was taken in. He estimated that about $1,500,000 would be the total of the Dempsey-Tunney fight.

"But there will be a record number of paid admissions," he added. "The Carpenter fight drew more money because, there the top price was $50, while for this one the high price is $2.50."

Atlantic City, N.J., Sept. 8.—The gates were locked at Jack Dempsey's training camp yesterday.

The world's heavyweight champion, starting his three-day lay-off, spent the day loafing around his bungalow, keeping a stenographer busy answering a hundred or more letters from personal friends, asking him to get desirable ringside seats for his championship fight with Gene Tunney at Philadelphia September 23.

In the afternoon, Dempsey with Mike Trant, his companion and Jerry Lavada, his trainer, came down town to have a personal appearance in the city. The champion slipped into a barber shop unobserved for a hair cut, massage and manicure. Last night he was seen by a newspaper man covering his training camp, at a dinner at the Ambassador Hotel.

The champion has arranged to purchase 250 seats for the fight and intends to distribute them among personal friends. He will need at least a thousand tickets, however, if he attempts to fill all of the request coming to him. Dempsey is having as much trouble as the ordinary individual in buying desirable seats, although promoter Tex Rickard is making every effort to accommodate him.

Dempsey first asked to have 500 seats reserved for him and the request was in half because of the heavy demand. Dempsey intends to go on a fishing trip to-day. He had Jerry, the Greek, carrying a shawl and a hat this afternoon to the necessary equipment.

Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 8.—Gene Tunney switched his training programme yesterday by devoting much of his attention during the afternoon to the study of boxing to defensive tactics. He took into his sparring partners Sunday yesterday he let Vidabek, Mays and Gorman do the heavy lifting.

Although Tunney did not knock out any of his sparring partners, he knocked a portion of the gallery faint when he reacted to an announcement by "Pants" Lawrence, with a solar plexus phrase.

"Pants," the Adirondack mountain guide who styles himself the "bouncer" of the Tunney camp, announced from the ring that the first round of the fight between Billy Vidabek and Mr. Tunney.

"I am acquiring a bit of vicious dignity," with a "mister" attached to my name," Tunney remarked to those closest to the ringside. "Pants," however, continued to bestow the "Pants" phrase.

He looked, once a promising middleweight boxer of Lancaster, Pa., now an athletic coach at Pennsylvania State College, was a visitor yesterday. The Houck boxed Tunney twice in 1919, soon after Gene was mustered out of the marine. He was struck, he said, by the growth and strength acquired by the challenger in the intervening years.

Bud Gorman, biggest of Tunney's sparring partners, left on a leave of absence after yesterday's workout. He is to meet Bill Gothe at Albany, N.Y., Thursday night. All of Tunney's sparring mates except Oak Tilt, the middleweight, have fights booked. Vidabek and Mays have engagements for next week.

There will be no boxing to-day. Lou Fitt, the trainer, ordering a rest after the fast and furious affairs of the last two days.

Canadian Football Team To Tour New Zealand in 1927

Toronto, Sept. 8.—A representative Canadian soccer team will tour New Zealand next year, it was made known at the annual meeting Tuesday afternoon of the Dominion Football Association. The New Zealand soccer authorities have agreed to the D.F.A. terms, negotiations having been in progress last year. The New Zealand body will reciprocate another year.

Quebec was refused a delegate to replace the vote lost by the resignation of Vice-President Tom Mitchell.

A request of Vancouver Island for a separate charter of affiliation was referred to the new council.

Turns Pro to Oppose Suzanne

When the famous C. C. (Cash) Pyle announced that he had signed Suzanne Lenglen for somewhere in the neighborhood of $100,000 to play professional tennis a lot of tennis officials shook their heads and said there would be no one to play tennis against the French star. The president of the U. S. Tennis Association announced that no permission would be given American women tennis players to compete against Suzanne. The Canadian women could oppose the French girl on her visit to Canada. Pyle, however, has shown that he did not require the aid of the U.S.T.A. He just talked money to Mary Browne, one of the outstanding players across the border, and she signed to make the second woman professional. When someone gives a big check under the nose of a player who has been a big drawing card at the gate and offers to give him back some of the money he is earning for others it is a big temptation and the athletes are beginning to look on professionalism in a different way in which they did a few years ago.

LIFE STORY OF GENE TUNNEY

By JOE WILLIAMS
(Copyrighted 1926 by Nea Service Inc.)

The first "big shot"—as the boys call him—of the ring life was his battle with Georges Carpentier, the Frenchman. This was the first of a series of engagements considered a favorable comparison with the outstanding stars of the ring could be made. All his victims had been small fry.

Gibson was quick to sense the necessity of building a ballboy about his person. He had a ballboy named "Pants" Lawrence, with a solar plexus phrase.

"Pants," the Adirondack mountain guide who styles himself the "bouncer" of the Tunney camp, announced from the ring that the first round of the fight between Billy Vidabek and Mr. Tunney.

"I am acquiring a bit of vicious dignity," with a "mister" attached to my name," Tunney remarked to those closest to the ringside. "Pants," however, continued to bestow the "Pants" phrase.

Yankees Sure of Flag; St. Louis Almost There

Cleveland Has Practically No Chance of Catching New York; St. Louis, With Sixteen Games Left to Play, and With Boston as Opponents, While Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Chicago Continue Battling Against Themselves, Look Good for Pennant

New York, Sept. 8.—St. Louis fans to-day looked eagerly towards a possible East-West world series since the Cardinals were leading Cincinnati by two games and Pittsburgh by four and one-half.

A decided break in the neck-and-neck finish that has gripped the National League for the last two weeks came yesterday when Cincinnati lost to Chicago 8-5 while the Cardinals were beating Pittsburgh 8-0. The blow to the Reds' "hopes" was most disastrous for the round robin series between its four members of the battling first division is almost over. Cincinnati must face the Pirates and Cubs when St. Louis has departed to the comparative rest and quiet of the Boston Braves ballyard. The Cardinals have sixteen more games to play and Cincinnati twenty. Winning those four extra games would tie the Reds with St. Louis for both teams split even in their eastern tour. Thus the issue would rest on the final game at Cincinnati.

DRIVER DIES IN SADDLE BUT HORSE RUSHES ON TO WIRE
Aylesford, N.S., Sept. 8.—Henry C. Lydiard of Centerville, N.S., seventy-eight-year-old veteran of the harness racing sport and known on many tracks throughout North America, gave the fans a final thrill on Monday when he died on the seat of his sulky on the speedway here and his horse, Briar Mac, ran alone to finish second in the first heat of the 220 trot, when Lydiard suddenly threw up his hands and fell to the ground. Briar Mac, just passed Torpedo Lady, hesitated only a fraction of a second, then swept on in a beautiful stride on the pole. John Macgregor was ahead of Briar Mac, but the latter, with reins dragging, pulled up along side and passed him, then levelled away for the lead horse, Aubrey the Great, while the spectators watched in awe. It seemed that the horse was being driven by invisible hands. Aubrey the Great passed under the wire a length ahead of Briar Mac.

SHERDEL RESPONSIBLE
Cardinal sharp was responsible for the Cardinal upset yesterday. The left-handed veteran kept the Pirates in utter abjection, allowing only one man to reach third base. Errors behind Mays proved the undoing of Cincinnati. Pittsburgh falling back steadily in the final spurt for the pennant. Chicago are in a game and a half back of third place, the standing of the leaders to-day:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	81	57	.587
Cincinnati	77	57	.575
Pittsburgh	73	58	.557
Chicago	74	62	.544

The Giants, with Captain Frank Frisch back in the lineup, divided a double-header with the Boston Braves. Boston lost the first game 7-2 but won the second 7-5. Philadelphia shut out Brooklyn 5-0.

The Yankees eliminated whatever doubt there might be as to the winner of the American League by running their lead to 10 games and a half back of third place, the standing of the leaders to-day:

	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	84	51	.622
Cleveland	77	58	.570

"AMATEUR GENTLEMAN"
IS WORTHY VEHICLE FOR
RICHARD BARTHELMESS

Richard Barthelmess, noted for his versatility and charm of his many characterizations on the screen, has found a vehicle worthy of his talents in "The Amateur Gentleman," which is playing at the Capitol Theatre. He appears to splendid advantage in the colorful role of Barnabas Beverly Barry and looks amazingly well in the costumes of the Beau Brummel period.

The story, produced by Inspiration Pictures for First National under the direction of Sidney Olcott, is from the pen of Jeffery Farnol. It deals with the Regency period in England and contains numerous thrilling and dramatic high lights, which are intensified by the harmony and realism of the settings.

Dorothy Dunbar, who is considered a screen "find," is very beautiful as Lady Clonemore, while an exceptional cast appears in support of Barthelmess. The cast includes Gardner James, whose portrayal of Barrymores is noteworthy; Nigel Harrie, John Milne, Brandon Hunt, Herbert Grimwood, Billie Bennett,

ACTION LAID IN BIG CITY BUT MIX FINDS
PLENTY OF THRILLS

Just because most of the action in "My Own Pal," the latest Fox Film production starring Tom Mix, now at the Columbia Theatre takes place in a city instead of in the big open spaces, is no sign the usual Mix-like thrills are missing.

Far from it; in fact there is really more excitement to the reel in this picture than in any he has appeared in for some time.

"My Own Pal" starts off in a leisurely enough manner when Tom Mix, as the genial Tom O'Hara leaves the ranch where he has been a top-hand, to look for adventure in the big city beyond. But this is merely the lull before the storm. He has not ridden far when the kidnappers a little girl to save her from a cruel circus owner and leaps upon a swiftly moving train to escape his pursuers.

Arriving in the city, he is given the opportunity of joining the police force as a mounted policeman. He and Tony then set out on a series of adventures, every bit as thrilling as those Tom usually has on his ranch.

LUKE S. MAY,
CRIMINOLOGISTPAYS TRIBUTE TO PROVINCE POLICE

Luke S. May, Noted Criminologist of Seattle, Talks to B.C. Policemen

Delving into the gripping drama of criminology, where the finger-print system played an ill-important part and had been responsible for the apprehension of more than one noted law-breaker, Luke S. May, of Seattle, an expert in this field of work, addressed the members of the Provincial Police Department here last night at their headquarters.

Mr. May paid the Provincial Police of British Columbia a high tribute. Their reputation in the finger-print work involved in past cases had won them an admirable reputation from the Pacific to the Atlantic seaboard. Mr. May has been a close student of the finger-print branch of detective departments, applying his knowledge in many instances in the cause of justice. Coming from him, such a tribute as he paid the B.C. police was the more noteworthy.

ALWAYS A CLUE
Criminals, according to Mr. May, no matter how clever, always leave some tell-tale evidence, some clue, behind them at the scene of their crime. It was always there, although sometimes not discernable to the naked eye, he said. This was the point where science stepped in. If there were no finger-prints, there might be a hair of a man's head there to leave a road by which to trace the criminal. It might be a bit of tobacco dropped, a scrap of cloth, a thread, footprint, scratch, or one of a hundred other things which would be clues when science took a hand. It was always important to investigate at scenes of crimes immediately after their perpetration, if possible. Delays often meant the obliteration of clues which would be of highest importance in the solving of the case.

The three paramount considerations in examining at the scene of crimes, particularly murders, was first to ascertain the time; second, the cause; third, the motive behind it. Sometimes the criminal left an apparent motive which was actually a subterfuge to lead police investigators astray.

Mr. May is president of the Northwest College of Criminology and of the Revolver International Secret Service. He has been actively engaged in detective work and criminology, which two are closely allied, for the past twenty-three years and has conducted investigations in some of the most horrible and gripping of crimes.

Questioned as to whether or not he favored capital punishment, Mr. May smilingly replied: "I have yet to find a criminal who has repeated his crime after capital punishment had been inflicted."

It is common knowledge to Arctic and Antarctic explorers that sea-ice more than a year old is entirely free from salt, and that new ice contains the same amount of salt as seawater.

Lindley Crease Says Dr. Tolmie Will Work Hard For Industrial Success of City

Victoria West, in its close proximity to Esquimalt and the harbor, is situated for industrial development, Lindley Crease, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, speaking on behalf of Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative for Victoria Federal riding, told the electors of Victoria West last night at a meeting in Stanley's Hall. Mr. Crease painted a glowing picture of the promised prosperity for Victoria. It is Dr. Tolmie who is preparing a great industrial future for the city, he assured his hearers. It was largely through his efforts that the largest drydock in the Empire was located in Esquimalt. It is for our own interests that we should choose a government that assures us of such prosperity, he pleaded.

A protective tariff to keep a lot of the money which is now going out of the country, in Canada, was one of the first steps to prosperity, he stated. The Conservative policy is that of protective tariff, he went on to say, to keep Canadian money in Canadian pockets and to protect Canadian industries. Mr. Crease pointed to Okanagan fruit farmers as an example of where a protective tariff would enable competition with foreign goods. This protective tariff would be assured, he said, if the Conservative Party was returned with a working majority.

R. A. Wootton and D. B. Plunkett were other speakers of the evening. Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., presided over the meeting.

That New Sound in Your Telephone

You may have encountered a new sound in your telephone—one that you never heard before. It is the "busy back," the audible electric signal which now notifies the telephone user that the line he is calling is busy.

The Victoria operators no longer use the phrase, "That Line Is busy." If you call a busy line, you will hear an intermittent clicking sound, which will continue until you hang up the receiver.

The "busy back" is now standard equipment in the larger cities of the continent.

CONTINUOUS 2-11 p.m.

"Look here, Mott," Larry burst forth, "I will sit here and hear that child mangled without a word of protest. Miss Moore is absolutely incapable of such a thing as murder!"

"Don't be absurd, Mr. Laman," Mott's tones were icy, relentless. "Just because a woman is young and pretty, she can't be put outside the pale of suspicion. Miss Moore's finger prints are on the bottle under your own. Miss Moore's vanity case was used, also her crimson scarf. Miss Moore was seen going upstairs with that vanity case in her hand after the time the murder was committed. Miss Moore was found crying wildly in bed the next morning, when the servant came to tell her of the tragedy. She already knew it! I have checked up all my facts, I have sifted all the evidence, and I find no flaw in my reasoning, no loophole of escape from my convictions. I, too, am amazed at such a crime as this, but I am not a young and beautiful girl."

"Your arguments are not without truth and justice, Mr. Mott," Cunningham said, very seriously. "And it does seem that you have evidence of a sort, against Miss Moore. Are you going to arrest her?"

"Not immediately. But she is under surveillance, and an attempt to leave Gaybrook Harbor would, of course, result in her detention. But we have reason to believe she has knowledge of Mr. Heath's movements. He doubtless knows of her crime, and is lying low against the time when she can get away and join him. Then they will both disappear and never be heard of again."

"You know this?" asked Cunningham, gravely.

"Not by actual proof, but by the strongest implications. And here comes my messenger now, with word of Heath's present whereabouts."

Mott unfolded a note brought him by a boy, and with a brief ejaculation of annoyance, he declared:

"Well, I suspected as much! When Heath telephoned Miss Moore this morning, he was in New York, in a pay station."

CHAPTER XXVII

Through pretending a haughty indifference to matters of gossip or scandal, the Gaybrook Harbor Country Club was, to a man, deeply interested in the Heath case.

The club had members from both sides of the bridge, but most influential and important ones were Parkers.

A group of these were sitting in their favorite haunt, a shaded corner of the veranda, awaiting the luncheon hour.

They were the ones who had employed Al Cunningham to look into the case and they welcomed him with interest as he came up the steps.

"I've just left the Heath house," he said, speaking gravely. "That detective, Mott, is a devil, a real strangler on the Moore baby, and—well, I can't see any other direction to look."

"Bunny Moore!" exclaimed Arthur Black. "That won't do! Why, she is a peach, an angel! It's too absurd! You'll have to do better than that, Cunny."

"Well, here's the straight of it. They've proved that the house was so securely bolted and barred, that the murderer couldn't get out after his crime. Unless, of course, he was let out by someone inside, who bolted the door or window after him. Got that?"

"Yes," said Sam Anderson, a little impatient, "go on."

"Well, they are still sifting the evidence, but Mott says that he has no doubt about Miss Moore being the criminal. He says the youngsters of today stop at nothing, not even at crime. He says she is madly in love with Heath, and he agrees with a suggestion of mine, that maybe Bunny Moore and Perry were in cahoots, and planned the crime together. Then, either Perry did the killing and Bunny let him out the door, or he went away earlier, and left her to do it."

"Oh," Sam Anderson said in a tone of utter disgust at the idea, "you know, Cunningham, you know, that infant in arms couldn't—simply do such a thing!"

"That's where you are wrong, old boy. The infant in arms of today are not in their parent's arms, by any means! And a fat lot you know about such a thing! I doubt if you've ever so much as spoken to a girl of the current issue! They are Oh! Lawds! for sure!"

"Stuff and nonsense!" Anderson remarked coldly. "You're pig-headed, Al. You've got that Mott man's views in your head, and you shape everything to fit them. Now, if you're going to carry on, you hunt down Heath. That's the first thing to do. Am I right, Black?"

"Why, yes, Sam. You see, I think myself that Heath is the criminal. I don't care what you say about clues and evidence, my knowledge of human nature tells me that, given a man and wife and a Terlim Quid, there's bound to be a domestic tragedy."

"Well, there's been a domestic tragedy all right," Anderson smiled, grimly. "But your great knowledge of human nature is not infallible, I suppose."

"Oh, Lord, Sam, talk about pig-headedness! If you get a notion into that old head of yours, a Japanese earthquake couldn't dislodge it!"

But Al Cunningham had respect for the judgment of Anderson, and he went away to ruminate over his advice to finding Perry Heath.

It ought not to be difficult. A man can't drop out of existence without leaving some sign, some clue, as to his whereabouts.

Heath was not a man of affairs, his business was simple—merely the disposing of his pictures through dealers, or, occasionally to private buyers.

A list of such buyers and dealers must be easy obtainable, and it could not be a very arduous task to interview some of them. And some of them must have knowledge of Heath.

Yet Cunningham was by no means sure of this. A business man's associates would know about him, but an artist is a different proposition. If for any reason Perry Heath chose to absent himself for a time or forever, it did not seem to Cunningham that he could be easily found.

Why Heath wanted to disappear he did not know, but he felt sure the disappearance was voluntary and would be prolonged.

He tried to delve into the mystery of the identity of the criminal. There was that strange card to be considered.

If the make-up was the work of an artist or a woman, surely the card was the work of a woman or an imbecile. No man would do such a thing as that. But a woman would be quite capable of thinking the placing of that card would throw suspicion on Heath.

Oh, pshaw, all clues seemed to point to a woman. The light candles, the crimson scarf—it was all very well to say an artist, but to Cunningham's perturbed mind, they all seemed to scream, "Bunny!"

He felt a little resentful. It was all very well for those chaps to put him on the job of detecting. He was glad enough to be promised pay for it—if he could put on the goods. But he didn't think it was fair to pooh-pooh all his theories and discoveries, because, with natural chivalry, they hated to suspect a woman—a girl.

So did he. He was not enjoying the prospect of seeing that lovely jewel of femininity brought to the bar of justice.

But if he was doing sleuth work, he must follow up the avenues that opened to him, and see where they led. And he couldn't help seeing that they led, apparently, at least, to Bunny Moore.

So the case of Bunny Moore must be looked into. And old Anderson could say what he chose, he had no idea what little devil flappers were! Cunningham himself had a sister, and he knew she was the despair of his parents, and was almost incorrigible. He had tried, himself, to lecture her, but he found he might as well talk to a self-willed monkey. She snapped her fingers at him and laughed in his face.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Tired Ant

Copyright, 1926, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily was hunting for an adventure. The old gentleman rabbit had run with him, for he did not shoot when he was hunting. You can't get adventures that way.

Nor did he have a camera to take pictures of those nowadays hunters often tramp through jungles and in deep forests just to hunt for pictures, instead of shooting birds and beasts.

No, Uncle Wiggily had neither gun nor camera. He just had with him his bright eyes, and his long ears that could hear many faint sounds. And, with these the bunny uncle was seeking an adventure.

What's the matter? called the bunny gentleman.

"What's an adventure?" some of Uncle Wiggily's forty-seven little bunny rabbits would often ask, when he started off in search of one.

"An adventure," he would say, "is something that happens to you."

"Teacher kept me in school for whispering," laughed Baby Buntz, the orphan child, who was visiting the other bunnies. "Was that an adventure?"

"It was, but not a jolly one," answered Uncle Wiggily.

So here he was, hopping through the fields and through the woods, looking for an adventure, which he hoped to discover, or find, before it was time to hop back home for tea.

But all the adventures seemed to be hiding. Perhaps they had gone to bed and pulled the covers up over their heads, though it was a bit early to go to sleep.

"Dear me!" murmured Uncle Wiggily, peering this way and that way. "I wish I could find an adventure!"

"Ahem!" coughed a voice in the bushes. "I don't suppose you would call helping a tired ant lady an adventure, would you?"

"I might," said Uncle Wiggily, cautious like and judicial. "But who are you, where is the ant lady and what makes her tired?"

"I am Mrs. Hopper, the toad lady," was the answer. "Mrs. Crawl, the ant lady, is just down the path a short skip, and she is tired because she has to pick up every single grain of a bag of sugar she dropped a little while ago. I would be glad to help her myself, but my husband has a wart on his nose and I am hurrying home from the drug store with some medicine for him. I heard you sighing for an adventure so I thought I would speak of the tired ant lady. But perhaps she isn't."

"Isn't what?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"An adventure," answered the toad.

"I'll go see," offered the bunny. "Hurry home now, and cure your husband's wart."

When Uncle Wiggily had hopped down the path a little way he saw a little red ant lady, very busy, indeed, crawling to and fro between a pile of white, granulated sugar and her house, which was just a hole in the ground.

"Oh, dear!" sighed Mrs. Crawl, as she picked up another grain of sugar and started down the hole with it. "I am so tired!"

"That is too bad!" said Uncle Wiggily, bending down low the better to talk to the ant. "What happened?"

"I was carrying this bag of sugar home from the store," replied Mrs. Crawl, "when it slipped and fell and the bag broke. I can only carry a grain at a time, but if my fifty-seven thousand little boys and girls were here they would help me."

"Fifty-seven thousand boys and girls?" cried Uncle Wiggily. "That is a goodly number. I only have forty-seven. But where are all your children?"

"At school," answered Mrs. Crawl. "Oh, dear! I am so tired!"

"Then you sit down and take a rest," invited Uncle Wiggily. "I will put this sugar in your house in no time!"

So while the tired ant lady rested, Uncle Wiggily, with a spray from a pine tree, which was like a brush, got all the sugar grains into a neat heap. Then he made a funnel out of a bit of birch bark, and into the funnel he poured pawful after pawful of sugar, letting it dribble down into the ant's house, until all the sweet stuff was picked up and stored away.

"Oh, thank you, so much!" said the ant lady, no longer tired. "I wish I or some of my fifty-seven thousand children could do you a favor."

And they did. For a little later that day, when Uncle Wiggily was asleep in the woods, along came the fox to nibble him. But the fifty-seven thousand little ant children came out of school just then, and they crawled all over that fox, tickling him so on his nose and chin, that the bad chap quivered and shivered all over and ran away.

So this teaches us that there may be some good even in spilled sugar, and if the little lamb will go to school with the gold fish when he hears the cow ring her bell, I'll tell you next about how Uncle Wiggily fooled the fox.

Mutt's Suggestion Seemed O.K.—But!

MUTT MUST BE IN JAIL—I AMT SEEN HIM FOR TWO DAYS; SEE, IT'S HOT!

LIVING IN A SWELL HOTEL LIKE THIS, IS CLASS! IT WON'T DO TO THROW THIS SAFETY RAZOR BLADE IN THE BASKET—THE MAID MIGHT CUT HER FINGERS ON IT.

I'LL JUST Toss IT OUT THE WINDOW!

THE SAFETY RAZOR BLADE

WHEW! SOME HEAT!

HELP!

IT WAS A SAFETY RAZOR BLADE STUCK IN YOUR BEAN! SEE!

WELL, WHAT IN—? HOW IN—?

He files through the bill and dale; He calls the American Nightingale. His song is loud And makes him proud, Although the ——— is frail.
